The CAMPUS TODAY

BY MILDRED HOLLY

It's Winter Again . . .

THE WINTER SEASON of formal dances, cozy pop corn sessions, outdoor winter sports, and exam cramming is here. . . Our cover girl, photographed by coed Joyce Mc-Kercher, looks out from the Auditorium Building upon a beautiful snow scene on the campus. . . It's the end of a busy day for her. . .

Happy coeds make plans for winter dances. They'll take the boy friend out for an evening—and even buy him a corsage—January 9, when they go to the Femmes Fancy. . . More excitement is in store for them at the Old Gold Beauty Dance, January 24, when they will see the fairest among them crowned queens for the night.

Music Fills Air . . .

HUNDREDS OF IOWA HIGH school music students and their teachers thronged the TEACHERS COLLEGE campus, December 5 and 6, for the high school music clinic and festival. . .

Student orchestras, string groups, and soloists performed before members of the Coolidge String Quartet, and received criticisms from the well-known musicians. . . And the teachers spent one day learning how to solve their musical problems. . .

Words Fly High . . .

DEBATERS FROM 17 COLLEGES in five states had serious word battles on the TEACHERS COLLEGE campus, November 14 and 15, at the annual Cedar Valley Forensic Tournament. . . When it was all over, TEACHERS COLLEGE, University of Iowa, and Coe College speakers won top honors. . .

☆ THE CHEKHOV PLAYERS will present Shakespeare's classic comedy, "Twelfth Night," during March.

☆ THE LITTLE SYMPHONY, made up of Chicago Symphony orchestra players, will appear at College Hill April 28.

☆ CARL SANDBURG, left, will be at Teachers College for a poetry recital-lecture April 6. CHARLES MORGAN, London drama critic and novelist, will talk February 9.

Seven-Star Final . . .

A SEVEN-STAR CONCERT and lecture series is bringing the nation's top artists and speakers to the TEACHERS COLLEGE campus this year. . .

Autograph seekers had their fling, October 18, when they saw and heard the "glamour girl of the violin," Carroll Glenn. . . The 22-year-old South Carolina lassie won the hearts of Cedar Falls music lovers with her flawless violin technique and her beauty. . .

Senor Ernesto Montenegro, a Chilean lecturer on "The March of Democracy in South America," and the Coolidge String Quartet continued the series. . .

The best is yet to come. . . Charles Morgan, drama critic of the London Times, comes February 9. . . The Chekhov Players, famous dramatic group, will present Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," during March. . .

Carl Sandburg, one of America's best loved poets, will spend an evening with Cedar Falls poetry lovers, April 6. . .

The Hans Lange Little Symphony, made up of first desk men of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, will close the series, April 28. . .

Campus Jottings . . .

GOVERNOR GEORGE A. WILSON was the No. 1 guest at the twenty-second annual Homecoming celebration, October 18. . . . He smilingly crowned the "I" Men's choice for the fall quarter, Miss Georgiana Amidon of Toledo. . .

City and college alike paid tribute to the Cedar Falls band in recognition of its 50th anniversary during Homecoming. . . Members of the state legislature were among the distinguished guests on hand to honor the national prize-winning musicians. . .

CAMPUS SCHOOL LIVES DEMOCRACY

By DR. GUY WAGNER, HEAD, DEPARTMENT OF TEACHING

THE CHILDREN OF THE CAMPUS SCHOOL at the Iowa State Teachers College are part of the vast army of children who will be citizens of tomorrow. Like millions of other young Americans, they are learning that democracy is more than a theory, more than a chapter in a textbook.

From the days of childish pigtails and "play" firemen's suits until the more mature hour of caps and gowns, the children are practicing democratic living with their chums and fellow classmates.

Their teachers believe that democracy must be rooted in early childhood experiences, for children must live and act and think democracy, and not just read about it.

As early as Nursery School and kindergarten days, the children learn to appreciate the privileges that belong to them and to sense their responsibilities to others. They find out that policemen and firemen protect us, that schools and libraries serve all boys and girls, and that parks and playgrounds are free to everyone.

Of even greater significance, however, is the fact that they contribute in many ways to group welfare. It is common to find these little tots picking up scraps of paper, washing their own tables, preparing for noon luncheon, and making a gift for "mother and daddy."

A little later in school life, the children study the people of other places and other times. Here they sense that the brotherhood of man extends beyond the borders of the United States as well as within their own little community world.

Becoming America Conscious

THE YOUNGSTERS BECOME America conscious as they progress through the elementary school. They sing "America" and other patriotic songs, and learn the meaning of each verse. When they sing the last verse of "America" they realize that they are singing

They learn to toot their own horns—and follow the leader, too, in the band!

"Say ah" to the school nurse . . .

They study our South American neighbors.

to our "fathers' God" who is "the author of our liberty."

They read widely in the field of American folklore, biography, and historic documents. They plan special days for the purpose of honoring historic persons and events. They become acquainted with the true meaning of our democratic emblems—Uncle Sam, the eagle, the national colors, the flag—in relationship to the privileges we enjoy and the sacrifices that have made our privileges possible.

Children Promote Defense Program

THE CHILDREN MAY NOT HAVE much money to spend for national defense saving bonds, but they know the importance of conservation during periods of national emergency. Pupil committees have been formed to encourage economy in the use of paper towels, paints, and other materials.

One class is now using composition notebooks so that they will not lose or waste paper. Through these savings they reason that their parents will have more money to pay the extra taxes needed for the defense of our country.

Boys are salvaging crating lumber for use in various woodworking projects. The teachers and various student organizations emphasize the considerate use of public property, such as books, desks, and other supplies and equipment.

High school boys salvage crates for woodwork projects. . . . Children work together measuring the playground.

The program of conservation extends to the problem of health, both physical and mental, as teachers try to provide a healthy and happy school environment. The day's program includes periods of rest and relaxation following periods of strenuous activity. Teachers are quick to sense symptoms of illness, and the health director checks each child who has been absent through illness.

Both the timid child and the overly aggressive youngster receive special guidance in adjusting themselves to their fellow classmates. The quiet boy or girl is guided into successful experiences of work and play with others, and the bolder child is provided outlets wherein he may enjoy success without victimizing those weaker than himself. In the classroom and on the playing field teachers are marshalling resources which make for healthful living and produce the courage and the skill to meet adversity without fear.

Learning to Vote

IN THE SECONDARY SCHOOL, students continue the democratic experiences of grade school, as they study civic problems and the intelligent application of their knowledge. They learn that thoughtless voting may actually harm the cause of democracy by giving the voter an unearned satisfaction for the mere physical act of casting his ballot. By actual experience in various school organizations they learn to carefully study problems from every angle and to freely interchange opinion before voting.

The new social studies workshop in the high school is a good illustration of democracy at work. Students in history, government, debate, social problems, and economics use this laboratory and learn democracy by practicing it as well as studying it. Although the question and answer as an instrument of teaching is not neglected, a great share of the student's time is spent in independent research, committee planning, round table discussions, panel presentations, and other activities stressing individual and group responsibilities.

American History and modern industry become more real to the students as they listen to phonograph records of presidents' speeches and look at motion pictures of great industries in action.

Students and teachers alike are kept alert to modern problems faced by democracy as they critically examine copies of the National Geographic, Time, Fortune, and The New York Sunday Times for information which will illustrate the points they wish to make.

For those research-minded wide varieties of collateral reading are provided, and an extensive collection of maps, pictures, stereographs and other visual education aids complete classroom opportunities for study of civic and social problems.

Best Wishes for 1942

FROM JOHN G. McDOWELL, B.A. '31
PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of the IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE wishes to use the opportunity afforded by THE ALUMNUS to extend New Year's greetings to all of the former students and graduates of TEACHERS COLLEGE.

The Alumni Association wishes to serve TEACHERS COLLEGE in every way possible. You, as one of 17,000 alumni, can make this policy effective. You have an alma mater of which you can well be proud. It is outstanding in its field. Make it a point to speak well of TEACHERS COLLEGE on every occasion.

PRESIDENT McDOWELL

In conversation with our fellows, in our newspapers and magazines, and over the radio, we are confronted by the assertion that America faces the most critical years in its history. During the past year, the college has appropriately used the slogan, "Iowa State Teachers—Defenders of Democracy." This slogan is literally true. In the admittedly critical year and years which lie ahead, it will be up to our schools to turn out citizens able to cope with America's problems.

IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, now as always, is dedicated to the task of preparing teachers capable of loyally and efficiently serving the needs of our state and nation.

As alumni, whether or not we are now actively engaged in educational work, I know that we will advance and protect the interests of our schools.

May the year ahead bring each of you a large measure of personal happiness and of success in your chosen field.

Plan A Good Time Now

ALREADY OLD GRADS LOOK AHEAD TO REUNION DAY, MAY 31

MAKE A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION now to attend the annual alumni get-together on College Hill, May 31, 1942. The whole family—17,000 strong—is invited to renew friendships, and see the babies of the family graduate on Commencement Day, also on May 31. Classes having special reunions include those with year numerals ending in "2" and "7."

The class of 1882 will be the oldest class represented, as its members celebrate their sixtieth anniversary. Four men and nine women comprise this class today. Commemorating their golden anniversary will be the class of 1892, with 24 men and 36 women already making plans for the event.

They'll Be Decorated

GOLD MEDALS WILL BE READY for all graduates of any year, 1892 or earlier, who are present at the reunion and who have not received such medals previously.

The class of 1917, holding its twenty-fifth silver reunion, will receive the special invitation and the compliments carried therewith for this group. Free dinner tickets will be given to each member of the class.

Other classes scheduled for special reunions, May 31, are 1897, 1902, 1907, 1912, 1922, 1927, 1932 and 1937.

Graduates of the Iowa State Teachers College now number 19,565—and they're still going strong. The Bureau of Alumni Service, through THE ALUMNUS, is inviting all 16,685 graduates, whose addresses are now on file. The whereabouts of 1,700 alumni are "unknown," but they too are invited. Alumni known to be deceased number 1,180.

Officers of the Alumni Association are John B. McDowell, B.A. '31, principal of the high school at Algona, Ia., president; William L. Rhea, B.A. '17, principal of the Oak Street Junior High School at Burlington, Ia., vice-president.

CIRCLE LETTER GOES ROUND 'N' ROUND

AS TOLD BY J. ED. JOHNSON, M.DI. '96

"WE'RE TEN, AND WE'VE KEPT our friendship of the good old I. S. N. S. days alive through the coast-to-coast trek of a circular letter, now going into its 48th year," so writes J. Ed. Johnson, M.Di. '96, of Sioux City, Ia.

"The Ten" first got together on February 11, 1892, to help John H. Fellingham, M.Di. '94, celebrate his twentieth birthday by partaking of the contents of a package of "goodies"—the honoree's gift from home.

They started the party listening to Charles Henry, B.Di. '93, now of Dillon, Mont., recite Holmes' poem, "We're Twenty." Only ten were asked because the rooms would not comfortably hold any more.

"We chose those who had been more closely associated, were nearly on an equal in classes, and a little, I think, because there was some pairing off for Sunday evenings that made it logical," Mr. Johnson says.

The party was a gala and happy affair, and the guests all enjoyed their cookies and fruit in a most artistic fashion. (See above picture for proof.) The young ladies wore dark, floor-length dresses, with lacey collars fitting tightly under their chins. The men looked none too comfortable in their stiff white collars and swallow-tail coats, and only two of them supported "cookie-dusters" for their cookies. They all had a good time, and even today, almost a half a century later, remember the birthday party.

"Mighty Midgets" Do It Again

By ROBERT McGRANAHAN

FOR THE SECOND CONSECUTIVE year Coach Clyde L. Starbeck's mighty midgets rolled over all conference opposition to annex their second loop title in as many years.

Coach Starbeck faced a big task when football practice started in the fall. Only eight lettermen from the 1940 championship squad were available. However, several sophomores and reserves came through in fine fashion to fill the gaps caused by graduation and the draft.

The Champions won their first three games of the 1941 season in impressive style before falling before the powerful Western Michigan College eleven of Kalamazoo 28 to 7, in the twenty-second annual Homecoming game.

After the Homecoming tilt the Panthers won their two remaining conference games, but lost two other non-conference games.

In winning the conference championship the midgets, who averaged only 175 pounds to the man, won five games without a loss, scoring 151 points while holding the opposition to 29. For the entire season the Starbeck men won five while losing three. In their eight games the Panthers scored 165 points while their opponents scored only 83.

At the annual football banquet given by President Malcolm Price 21 letters and gold footballs were awarded to squad members.

Letters were given to Nick Avelchas, Don Barnhart, Cyril Bellock, Dick Bowen, James Christianson, Robert Cutshall, Gene Goodwillie, Robert Hadenfeldt, Merlyn Honsbruch, Paul Hughes, Robert Hunt, Norman Johansen, Aaron Linn, James

Maas, Leon Martin, Lloyd Miller, Frank Panasci, Charles Pastorino, Martin Shimp, Gene Steinkamp, Ed Wittman. Gold footballs went to Dougan, Melcher, and Hooven.

CLYDE L. STARBECK

Frank Panasci, rugged Panther guard, breaks through to throw Art Macioszczyk, Western Michigan fullback, for a loss in the twenty-second annual Homecoming battle, October 18.

Nordly Rebuilds Basketball Quintet

CONFERENCE SEASON OPENS JANUARY 5 AT CEDAR FALLS

AS WE GO TO PRESS in the middle of November Coach Oliver L. "Hon" Nordly is busy at work attempting to piece together a winning basketball quintet.

John McNabb and Bob Hunt are the only members of last year's squad available for competition this season. Of the seven men who earned letters last season three were graduated, two are in the naval reserve and two are in the army.

To those who have watched Nordly rebuild his cage teams in the past, the lack of veterans on the squad means nothing. A year ago Nordly was faced with the same rebuilding task and came up with a team which finished second in the North Central Conference. It should be remembered, however, that the Panthers will be without the services of two of last year's scoring aces, Don Green and Bob Esau, who finished second and fifth respectively among the leading North Central conference scorers. Coach Nordly's team this year will be lacking in height and experience, and must rely upon speed, durability, accurate shooting and passing to pull through their tough 18-game schedule.

OLIVER L. NORDLY

Coach Nordly issued the first call for practice earlier than usual this fall because he knew of the tough task which was ahead. After approximately four weeks of practice, the starting lineup is still very uncertain.

Of the 17 men who have been working out there are seven juniors, nine sophomores, and one senior. From what has been accomplished in the early practice sessions, the work of Ralph White, Jack Walker, Harry McFarland, Bob Titsworth, Dick Seidler, Bob Hunt and John McNabb has been the most encouraging.

North Dakota State, North Central champions for the last two years, are the pre-season favorites again this winter. In spite of the fact that the Bison have a veteran team, the other conference teams are conceding nothing. The University of Omaha and Morningside College each have veteran quintets and may cause the favorites plenty of trouble. Even the Panthers, inexperienced as they are, may rise up as underdogs often do to be the surprise team of the conference.

The Panthers have an attractive 18-game schedule this year. Nine of these contests will be played on the home court. TEACHERS COLLEGE will meet their first conference foe January 5 when they entertain Morningside College at Cedar Falls.

The schedule:

Dec. 6—College of St. Thomas at Cedar Falls
 Dec. 12—Chicago Teachers College at Chicago
 Dec. 13—Milwaukee Teachers College at Milwaukee
 Dec. 18—Chicago Teachers College at Cedar Falls
 Jan. 5—Morningside College at Cedar Falls
 Jan. 7—Grinnell College at Grinnell
 Jan. 10—South Dakota State College at Cedar Falls
 Jan. 17—Western Illinois State Teachers College at Cedar Falls
 Jan. 19—North Dakota State College at Cedar Falls
 Jan. 24—University of Omaha at Omaha
 Jan. 31—University of South Dakota at Cedar Falls
 Feb. 3—Luther College at Cedar Falls
 Feb. 6—Western Illinois State Teachers College at Macomb
 Feb. 13—University of North Dakota at Grand Forks
 Feb. 14—North Dakota State College at Fargo
 Feb. 21—University of Omaha at Cedar Falls
 Feb. 24—Luther College at Decorah
 Feb. 28—Morningside College at Sioux City.

Wrestling Season . . .

THE GREATEST TEAM IN THE HISTORY of the college—that briefly sums up the 1941 wrestling team which was undefeated. With the loss of Delbert Jensen, Roger Isaacson and Vern Hassman, three stars of last year's team through graduation, and the failure of several others to return to school makes the outlook for this season none too bright.

DAVID H. MCCUSKEY

Leon Martin, junior from Eagle Grove, who was undefeated last year, is expected to be the brightest hope on Coach David H. McCuskey's squad. However, in Bert Moritz, Fred Weltz and Keith Bowen, McCuskey has three letterwinners of last year whom he hopes will fill the gaps caused by graduation and the draft.

To round out his squad of 16 men, McCuskey has 12 sophomores who may develop into wrestling greats.

Although the 1942 wrestling schedule is not complete the Panthers will probably meet several of the same teams they did last season. Tentatively on the TEACHERS COLLEGE schedule are University of Minnesota, University of Illinois, University of Chicago, University of Iowa, University of Nebraska, Cornell, Iowa State and Kansas State.

DON'T FORGET YOUR JOB INSURANCE

BY DR. E. W. GOETCH
DIRECTOR, PLACEMENT BUREAU

SUPERINTENDENTS OF IOWA AND SUPERINTENDENTS from states other than Iowa who consider graduates of the IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE for teaching positions depend upon the Placement Bureau to supply them with copies of the official recommendations of these graduates before employing them in their school systems.

Every graduate of this college who wants to change to another teaching position should, before attempting such a change, re-register with the college Placement Bureau. Every alumnus and alumna should be familiar with the policies of the Placement Bureau and should know of the opportunities which frequently come to former graduates who keep their registration up-to-date.

How to Register

Every graduate who intends to teach should register with the Placement Bureau and have his or her recommendations placed on file with the bureau. No registration fee is exacted from these graduates. Alumni interested in better teaching positions are urged to register with the Placement Bureau. A $3.00 registration fee is required for re-compiling a registrant's confidential credentials. Any service rendered to a registrant aside from re-compiling his credentials is free. Registration is good for one year from the date the fee is paid.

References

Registration becomes effective only upon the receipt by the Placement Bureau of the confidential statements from persons given as references by the registrant. References from the college should include the names of instructors of those departments in which the registrant has majored and minored, and of those instructors under whom the registrant has taken college work. Registrants are also requested to give the names of persons for references who are in a position to furnish confidential statements as to their character and as to their teaching experience.

Services to Registrants

1. Obtaining and recording confidential information in behalf of each registrant.
2. Mailing confidential credentials in behalf of available registrants to school officials.
3. Supplying confidential information to school officials on designated registrants at the direct request of said officials.
4. Arranging for personal interviews of registrants with school officials at the direct request of these officials.
5. Informing registrants about vacancies for which they have been officially nominated by the Placement Bureau.

6. Compiling and mailing confidential credentials to school officials in behalf of available registrants who are applying for positions which have been officially verified by the registrants as being vacant.

General Practices

The first concern of the Placement Bureau is to recommend the best qualified available candidates to school officials. The number of nominations given to a registrant is determined by the registrant's qualifications as compared with the qualifications of other available candidates.

The Placement Bureau does not furnish Iowa commercial teachers agencies with the confidential credentials of registrants. The bureau does furnish recommendations to out-of-state commercial teachers agencies in behalf of registrants who are seeking teaching positions in other states than Iowa.

Registrants of the Placement Bureau who desire to have their recommendations mailed to employing school officials should call at the bureau or telephone the bureau during the regular office hours. The Placement Bureau's telephone number is 690W.

Last Year's Record

The demand for graduates of TEACHERS COLLEGE and the demand for the services of the college Placement Bureau by employing school officials has become greater each succeeding year. During the 1940-1941 college year the placement bureau received 4,077 calls for teachers, which is 1,000 more than were received during the same period for the 1939-1940 college year. Seven hundred and seventy-seven Iowa towns representing all of the 99 Iowa counties received services from the college placement bureau. Two hundred and sixty-four calls for teachers came from other states than Iowa.

Nine hundred and fifty-one registrants accepted new teaching positions, and 213 of the bureau's registrants accepted other positions than teaching, making a total of 1,164 new locations for the 1941-1942 school year. During the 1940-1941 college year 573 stu-

Miss Thomes Dies . . .

ISABEL THOMES, A MEMBER OF THE TEACHERS COLLEGE language faculty for nearly a quarter of a century, died suddenly, November 11, 1941. Alumni will remember her as the sponsor of the Romance Language club and for her work in making plans for the annual Mardi Gras, costume ball. She held the rank of associate professor of Spanish and French.

ISABEL THOMES

Born September 4, 1888, at Excelsior Springs, Missouri, she received her B.A. degree from the University of Kansas and her M.A. degree from the University of Michigan. Before coming to TEACHERS COLLEGE in 1918, she taught in the schools of Puerto Rico, New Mexico, and the University of Nebraska. She had travelled extensively in Europe and Central America.

(A more complete article on Miss Thomes will be presented later.)

dents were either graduated or completed courses at the TEACHERS COLLEGE. Of this number 507 accepted teaching positions and 61 accepted other positions than teaching, or 99.12 per cent located.

Of the 951 new teaching placements approximately 500 were obtained by the alumni through the college placement bureau. The demand for well qualified candidates with teaching experience and who are graduates of the Iowa State Teachers College far exceeds the supply. Placements were made in the following states for the 1941-1942 school year: Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming, District of Columbia, Cuba.

NEWS . . .

Dear Folks:

We're awfully glad to get the news, no matter when it may arrive. Be it an announcement of a wedding, which took place so long ago that the couple now have "two fine children, age 3 and 5," or a notice of a birth of a baby boy two years after his arrival, we're glad to get the facts.

But please, please, do tip us off about when you "middle-aisle" it, at least in the same year that the big event takes place, and do tell us about "arrivals" within a month or two after the grand occasion.

It is terribly embarrassing to an editor who wants to keep the news fairly fresh to receive notifications of events that took place a year ago. We try to get this year's ALUMNUS to you this year, even if it is a week or two late some issues. Please turn about in fair play by giving us this year's news this year.—THE EDITORS.

THE ALUMNUS GOES

A PEPPY AGGREGATION of 200 TEACHERS COLLEGE pepsters had fun this fall, when they entrained for Des Moines—and the Panther-Drake University football game, November 8.

None were peppier or had more fun than Peggy Prichard of Storm Lake and Bob Kurtz of Eldora. THE ALUMNUS worked overtime—and had a good time, too—as photographer Martin Holst followed them.

Peggy and Bob arose bright and early—about 6 a.m., Saturday, November 8, to catch the special bus that would take them to Waterloo, where they boarded the train to Des Moines. Jam sessions, dancing in the baggage car, singing of the "Loyalty Song," and chanting of college yells made the trip fun.

They made things lively for the school teachers thronging Des Moines for the annual teachers convention as they paraded through the downtown business district.

Shouts of "Beat Drake—Beat Drake" accompanied the trek to Hotel Ft. Des Moines.

It was a cold day, but Peggy and Bob had fun at the game. The Panther had a little trouble with the Bulldog, and lost 13 to 0. A dance in the fieldhouse and a quick look at the city—and they embarked for home.

racy here is not only a form of government but a way of living. Teachers have the philosophy that the individual is of surpassing worth and that our school program must help him to live effectively in and for democracy.

Children sense their responsibilities for the common welfare and participate in setting up standards of conduct which emerge from the considered group judgment of the whole school population. Conscious effort is made to help the children realize fair play and justice to all, to settle difficulties by reason rather than command, to foster individual enterprise, and to give minority opinion an opportunity to be heard.

Both faculty and pupils are sharpening their thinking and directing their action toward a more democratic society within the Campus School. We are learning to sense the real meaning of the hallmarks of a democracy. We feel that much of what it stands for is becoming entrenched in our patterns of living. Through living democracy, we are building spiritual ramparts by which to defend it.

Words and Pictures Tell Collegiate Story

A COLORFUL ARRAY OF PAMPHLETS and booklets tells the story of collegiate life at the IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE. Words and pictures portray the TEACHERS COLLEGE way of education—the opportunities for professional advancement and for pleasant, youthful living during student days.

You as alumni can do your part; so spread the good news about TEACHERS COLLEGE by turning to the next page of this magazine. All you need to do is to write down the names and addresses of outstanding prospective teachers, and check the numbers of the publications in which you think they would be interested.

No matter what the interest of the high school senior or prospective teacher, TEACHERS COLLEGE has a publication to answer his questions. BOOST YOUR ALMA MATER by filling out the blank on page 31.

The publications follow:

1. OPPORTUNITY IN EDUCATION—A 48-page illustrated booklet, presenting information concerning the wide range of opportunities for teaching service in the public schools.

2. TRAINING THE COMMERCIAL TEACHER OF TOMORROW—A 24-page bulletin describing the work of the Commercial Education Department, and the full-fledged professional training it affords.

3. COACHING AND ATHLETICS—A 16-page bulletin outlining work in coaching and athletics. A pictorial folder, explaining recent Panther championship teams, accompanies the booklet.

4. A BOOK OF VIEWS—A 32-page bulletin showing pictures of campus buildings and student activities.

5. COLLEGE CATALOG—A 160-page book presenting general information concerning the college and its courses of study.

6. SUMMER TERM BULLETIN—A 52-page book presenting information concerning the summer session.

7. FREEDOM'S LIGHT—A 36-page booklet telling "The Story of Democracy," a pageant in three acts. The play, a Campus School presentation, is designed for high school production.

8. THE ALUMNUS—A 32-page quarterly alumni magazine, issued in January, April, July and October.

9. PUBLICATIONS FOLDER—A description of the work of Student Publications at TEACHERS COLLEGE. For those interested in working on the school newspaper, the yearbook and the literary magazine.

10. EDUCATION—First Line of Defense for Democracy—A pictorial folder containing a large air view of the campus, pictures of student life, and a short review of courses offered.

11. THE PROWL—Football magazine issued for each home football contest. Contains pictures of football squad and information concerning college athletic events.

12. SPORTS DOPE BOOK—Booklet issued each quarter of the school year, fall, winter and spring. Contains complete information regarding each sport—rosters, schedules and personal data on participants.

13. ACADEMIC INFORMATION SHEET—Booklet containing terse descriptions of buildings, courses, and statistics of significance concerning the college.

THERE'S A SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS!

☆ Help Us Meet the Defense Crisis

WANTED—MORE TEACHERS, good ones, too, to answer the acute shortage in the educational field! Help your alma mater keep in step with the need of the hour, for school superintendents are calling daily for more teachers.

TEACHERS COLLEGE is ready and waiting to do its part to supply more teachers, but more recruits for teaching work are needed to answer the demand. We want every teacher-reader of THE ALUMNUS to help in this hour of crisis by sending us the names of superior future teachers.

Do your part in promoting your profession and your alma mater by writing the names of these students in the blank provided below.

Every move, in fact, that promotes the welfare of your alma mater, the IOWA STATE

TEACHERS COLLEGE, and maintains her at a high level of efficiency also promotes your own welfare and that of every teaching graduate. Your college would like your help, therefore, in discovering for her in your own home town or in the city in which you are teaching, two or three really outstanding students whom you think would make excellent prospects for successful teaching work.

We would like to have you check the list of TEACHERS COLLEGE publications on the opposite page and send us the names and addresses of the students you know, suggesting the types of literature that you think would serve best to interest them.

You can help your college if you will then follow through on your suggestion, making sure that the literature is received in good order.

An "Everyday" Book on India

AFTER FIVE YEARS of close observation of Indian people and customs, Marie I. Cline, B.A. '21, is the author of a new "everyday book" for boys and girls, Meet India.

Something different in the way of geography books, the volume describes the country and people of India in terms and language suitable for use with children of school age. It tells in an intimate style about people, crafts, races, religions, foods, climate, languages.

The book has been bought by many city libraries and is being adopted for use in many schools.

Miss Cline worked for five years as a teacher of native girls in a normal school and high school in North India. When she returned to the United States she studied nursing at the University of Iowa, receiving the B.S. degree in 1929. Since then she has been a government nurse on Indian reservations in New Mexico and Arizona.

A Half Dozen Collins'

TED R. COLLINS OF MOUNT UNION, Iowa, received his B.S. degree in August, and he's the sixth member of the Collins family to be graduated from TEACHERS COLLEGE.

And all of the Collins sextet have pursued educational careers.

Dear Alumnus:

We hope THE ALUMNUS has done its part for the last quarter of a century, and kept you in the "know" about your alma mater.

We have asked nothing in return, only your good will. Now for the first time, however, we are turning the tables, and asking you to do something for us.

Here is your opportunity to demonstrate your pride in your alma mater. If you'll turn to page 31, you'll find how it's done. BOOST YOUR ALMA MATER by sending us names of superior teaching candidates. The better the candidates, the better the teachers we will produce.

So remember, we'll be looking for a letter.

Sincerely yours,

The Editors, THE ALUMNUS
